TWO AVIATORS DIE IN DROP INTO BAY

FORMER ARMY FLYER AND STUDENT PERISH SUNDAY

AIRMEN FORFEIT LIVES WHEN THEY DEFY FOG

Wrecked Plane In Grip of Tide Carries Bodies Out to Sea.—Scores of Autoists and Aviators Witness Plunge.

San Francisco.—Strapped to their seats, Emmett Tanner, 29, former army aviator, and Robert Langdon, 21, student flyer, were drowned Sunday afternoon when their airplane, piloted by Tanner, plunged into the bay half a mile off Fort Mason.

The fall was witnessed by passing motorists and a score of other aviators who had refused to fly because of the dense fog. A launch was immediately dispatched to the scene, but neither body was recovered and they are believed to have been swept, with the wreckage of the plane, out to sea by the tide.

According to aviators at the Marina, Tanner, known as a daring stunt flyer, determined to take a flight against the advice of other flyers. Inviting Langdon to accompany him, he climbed into a recently overhauled machine and took off, the plane disappearing in a fog bank.

Ten minutes later, witnesses said, the machine appeared, descending almost vertically and with the engine still running. The plane struck the water with terrific force, disappearing for a moment. A launch, carrying three men, immediately started toward the point where the airplane had struck, but when the boat arrived the wrecked craft had already drifted a quarter of a mile.

The men in the launch succeeded in getting a line around one end of the plane but the line broke and the wreckage started to sink. One of the men dived in an effort to again tie up to the plane and became entangled in the wreckage, but managed to extricate himself. On returning to the boat he reported that the rear cockpit of the machine, occupied by Langdon, was empty but that he could not see into the forward seat.

That one of the two men had succeeded in releasing himself from his seat was the assertion of two men who witnessed the accident. Both said they saw one man crawling toward the rear of the airplane just before it struck the water.

This mishap was Tanner's third fall, a plane he was operating having crashed near Grant's Pass, Ore., two years ago and another machine having fallen in Alameda last June. Langdon was an airplane enthusiast, spending most of his spare time at the Marina field and taking frequent flights.

Tanner was well known as an aviator and two weeks ago won a wager by bringing a deer bagged in Monterey county to San Francisco in an airplane. For the last year he had been operating a commercial plane from the Marina. He was married.

BERKELEY GIRL DEFEATS MRS. MOLLA MALLORY IN FINALS

Forest Hills, N. Y.—Helen Wills, 17-year-old tennis marvel of Berkeley, Cal., justly earned the highest honor within the gift of American tennis by decisively defeating Mrs. Molla Mallory, seven times champion, in the final round of the national championship singles in straight sets, 6-2 and 6-1. Playing as never before, Helen completely smothered her older rival and made her victory secure in precisely thirty-two minutes by the watch. The victory was a clamorous one, and the 5,000 easterners in the stands forgot sectional prejudice entirely in their spontaneous greeting to the new champion.

A graceful loser, Molla was the first to congratulate the new champion. Reaching across the net to clutch the child's hand, she thought better of this and took her in her arms and kissed her.

Employment Holds Normal

Washington.—Despite the usual summer lull, the general industrial employment situation in the country is encouraging, with only a slight decrease in employment, reports the labor department. The industrial survey for July, just completed, indicates a healthy undertone, and a splendid spirit of optimism prevails practically throughout the entire industrial field. No grain has gone to waste for lack of harvest men.

Men's Rights Bill Passed

Montgomery.—The Alabama house of representatives favor "equal rights for men." The body passed a bill giving men, as well as women, the right to obtain a divorce on grounds of cruelty.

POWER PACT FILING DOOMS U. S. WARSHIPS

More Than a Score of Battle Craft to Be Junked In Naval Limitation Aim.—Work Is Halted On Eleven Vessels.

Washington.—More than a score of America's proudest battleships, many of them veteran warriors of the seas, will soon go to the junk heap.

France's ratification of the naval limitation treaty has finally been received here, after long months of waiting. A formal ceremony was held when the ratifications of all the signatory powers were deposited by their representatives at the state department.

This ceremony, representing the consummation of the greatest single achievement of the Harding administration, comes singularly only one week after the burial of the late president.

The navy department is now preparing to put into commission the last two battleships that will be built in this country for ten years. They are now receiving the finishing touches. On September 1, the Colorado will be commissioned and will go into active service. The West Virginia, her sister ship, will be commissioned December 1.

Completion and commission of these battleships, two of the finest, was provided under the naval limitation treaty. However, as soon as they are commissioned, the Delaware and the North Dakota, will go to the junk pile, as provided in the treaty.

There are now eleven capital ships uncompleted and all of these are to be scrapped. They have been sitting idle since the end of the arms conference over a year and a half ago, when work was ordered suspended.

It has been estimated that it will cost over $70,000,000 to scrap these eleven uncompleted ships, to pay the rental of the ways and to settle claims that will be brought against the government for cancellation of contracts. The actual cost of their construction up to the time the work was stopped was well over $97,000,000. All are of the most modern type.

Each of the powers were given eighteen capital ships. Great Britain will have twenty and Japan ten.

Then will begin the war of building up auxiliary craft and submarines. The air race already has begun. The navy has prepared requests upon the next congress for additional smaller craft and submarines.

HUGHES DENIES TELEGRAM TO VETERANS ON BERGDOLL

Washington.—A telegram of inquiry was sent to officials of the Disabled American Veterans, at Cincinnati by Secretary Hughes, asking an explanation of its announcement concerning receipt of a state department telegram regarding the case of Grover Bergdoll and the release of Hooven Griffis from a German prison. Hughes said the telegram made public in Cincinnati had not been signed by him, nor sent out by the state department.

The telegram made public by the veterans' organization said the state department would, if possible, obtain the immediate extradition of Bergdoll and use its utmost care to protect the interests of Lieutenant Griffis. Secretary Hughes said the department had made no such assertion.

GERMAN REDS PLOT DEATH OF CHANCELLOR STRESEMANN

London.—The communists and extreme radicals continue their attacks on Chancellor Stresemann, predicting the same fate for him that befell the assassinated leaders Mathias Erzberger and Walter Rathenau. Pan-Germans accused the new chancellor of friendliness to France, and do not hesitate to fortell his murder. The Nationalist Deutsche Zeitung was suspended for three days for attacking the government.

These reports were received in London with considerable alarm and were taken to indicate the possible beginning of strong opposition to the Stresemann regime just as light had begun to appear in the clouds of German trouble.

COMMUNITY RIGHTS FAILS FOR LACK OF SIGNERS

Sacramento.—The community property act, giving the wife equal rights with her husband in the disposition of their property, is now written into the statute books. Effort to hold the measure up on referendum failed when only 74,445 qualified electors of California signed petitions asking that the act be submitted to the people. A total of 48,289 signatures was necessary to hold the bill up on the referendum. The petition lost by 844 signatures.

After a recheck of the figures Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan officially announced that the referendum had lost.

Secretary Paine, in a statement, said practically all the big dailies plan to have special men attend and report the big show and that the rural papers and the press of the smaller cities assure him an unusually large representation. The agricultural, horticultural, dairy, livestock, machinery, automobile and other weekly and monthly journals also will have representatives at the fair.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT

Friday evening Max Bartholomew met with a painful accident which narrowly escaped being a fatal one. A friend who was visiting with him is a deputy and carried a revolver. Upon retiring he laid it on the table and Max picked it up to examine it, when it slipped from his hand to the floor. The force of the fall discharged the weapon, the ball piercing his arm, breaking a jagged piece out of the bone, and otherwise inflicting a painful wound.

He wa staken to the San Jose hospital where the arm was dressed, and he is resting as well as may be. However, it will be sometime before he is on the working list again.

CAMPBELL INCORPORATION LIVE ISSUE

Incorporation was the chief topic for discussion before the Campbell Commercial Association Wednesday evening.

In the absence of President E. C. Merrill, J. F. Wehmeyer occupied the chair. He, being one member of the incorporation investigation committee, gave a report of the conditions found at Sunnyvale, where the tax is now $1.60 per hundred dollars. With this they are carrying a bond issue of nearly $100,000 for sewer and water systems. The water system is making a net profit return to that city of about $2000 per year. Those interviewed concerning the present conditions as compared with those when un-incorporated were well satisfied with the present. Dr. Merrill also on the committee reported that apparently our town could be run at a saving on the present tax and at the same time enjoy police protection and authority not now afforded. At this time the exact figures were not obtainable and it would necessitate a thorough research of the county bills for this community to compile such data.. Each member present voiced his opinion in favor of incorporation but it was decided to make a more complete survey of the proposition before calling a mass meeting for its discussion.

A committee of five, C. H. Whitman, chairman, G. E. Stallman, J. B. Strong, W. I. Merrill and Horace Lea, was appointed to map out a proposed district from which to work to secure a definite valuation and data basis. This line will probably include about the same territory as the present lighting district.

E. C. Merrill, who has felt unable to give adequate time to his office owing to the stress of his private business, tendered his resignation as president. This was accepted and at the next regular meeting, the first Wednesday of September, a new president will be chosen.

J. F. Wehmeyer reported that E. R. Kennedy, President of the Improvement Club, had made considerable progress in his campaign for the extension of Campbell avenue west. This is a matter in which the Club has been vitally interested and many of the farmers west of us are enthusiastic in their boosting for it.

BANKERS TO DISCUSS NATIONAL PROBLEMS

Local members of the American Bankers Association have received a communication from the national president, J. H. Puelicher, pointing out that marked changes that have come over business affairs since the last annual convention will strongly impress themselves on the coming meeting to be held at Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 24 to 27.

"At the last convention domestic affairs were running with such apparent smoothness and prosperity that it seemed fitting to devote our chief attention to the great problems oppressing Europe, and to America's relation to them," Mr. Puelicher says. "Since then slackening domestic business and increased trend of sentiment toward a state of unrest in many sections of the United States have placed particular emphasis on some of our own great problems as well as the problems of Europe."

Among the subjects for consideration will be, the unsatisfactory economic position of agriculture, threatening to hamper the nation's food productivity, unwarranted assaults being made on the Federal Reserve System, and many others of vital importance to the financial and economic welfare of our country.

HIS CREED

To safeguard America first,
To stabilize America first,
To prosper America first,
To think America first,
To exalt America first,
To live for and revere America first.

Call it the selfishness of nationality if you will, I think it an inspiration to patriotic devotion.

We may do more than prove exemplars to the world of enduring representative democracy where the Constitution and its liberties are unshaken. We may go on securely to the destined fulfillment and make a strong and generous nation's contribution to human progress, forceful in example, generous in contribution, helpful in all suffering and fearless in all conflicts.

Let the internationalist dream and the Bolshevist destroy. God pity him, "for whom no minstrel raptures swell." In the spirit of the republic we proclaim Americanism and acclaim America.

—WARREN G. HARDING.

LOOK OUT FOR THE SHARKS!

The newspapers recently carried a pathetic story of an aged couple who invested and lost $35,000 in worthless stocks. It was every cent they had in the world and all of their lifetime savings. Their money was fooled away from them by the glittering promises of an unscrupulous broker who promised to make them millionaires. The man is seventy years old and blind, and today, he and his wife are penniless, and were it not for charity, they would be hungry.

It is because the world is full of sharks absolutely without mercy, and full of people who believe that they can get something for nothing that we are constantly printing Editorials like this. We are trying to warn our people to keep hold of their money and never make an investment without the advice of a competent lawyer or banker, and without being absolutely sure that their lifetime savings are being put where they will be secure. In almost every neighborhood there is somebody who tried to get rich too quickly and is now filled with hopeless and bitter regret.

SAFE INVESTMENTS HELP BUSINESS

Every investment banker, bond dealer or bank has a selfish interest in preventing the sale of unsound securities. While their interest is selfish, it is at the same time directly in the public interest.

Financial institutions are desirous of building up the wealth of a community. The more wealth the people have, the more securities they can buy, the better financial condition they are in, and the more business there is for bond dealer and banker.

Bond houses and banks know that if a customer is going to invest this money, nothing they can say will stop him. But if, by giving him good advice, they can get him to invest it properly, he will have more money to deposit in a bank and more money with which to buy more securities.

Contrary to erroneous public opinion that has been formed, reputable investment bankers are not interested in, and fight against, selling any class of securities which are not absolutely safe and sound.

The wise man will avail himself of the information of experts, especially when it is free, before parting with his cash.

It Is Far Better for Man to Marry Good Blood Than Good Environment

By PROF. H. E. WALTER, Brown University.

There are three contributing factors that go to make up any man—or woman—and no one of the three can possibly be omitted. The first is environment or the surroundings in which a person is brought up. It represents the opportunity or chance in life which one has. The second is natural capacity which is inherited from one's forebears. This is heredity or endowment. The third factor is the response which is made with a given inheritance, whatever it may be, within one's particular surroundings. Environment is the stage setting, inheritance the actor and the response what the actor performs upon the stage.

To reduce the matter to the simplest terms, the three fateful factors that determine a man—namely, environment, heredity and response—may each occur in at least three varying grades, indicated roughly as good, medium and poor. By combining these factors we arrive at twenty-seven kinds of men.

It is far better for men to marry good blood than good environment, because natural capacity usually leads, sooner or later, to an effective response which is likely in the end to insure a desirable environment.

The Budget Game

Sam Goodwin, age 17, is a boy with a head for figures. Just at present he is spending a little time calculating how to apportion the earnings of the season.

See him now seated at the living room table with his elbow on the polished top and his forehead resting thoughtfully against his palm. He is scratching away with a pencil in his free hand. As he writes, he digs his left fingers into his hair and talks low to himself: "Let's see, if I've made $200 working in the fruit by the time school starts, September 17, there'll be enough to buy a new suit, say forty dollars; and new shoes, maybe six dollars; and a new cap, about two dollars; and two shirts, each a dollar and six bits; and four pairs of every-day socks, two dollars; and a pair of clocked Sunday socks, one-fifty; and—gee! that's piling up fast—I'll have to cut down. That money'll have to pay my personal expenses a whole year—"

Budgeting! It is a good game to learn while you are young, but one can begin at any age. And although the subject of figures is usually dull, one can make the sport of refereeing the race between expenses and the bank account quite a thrilling diversion. Locally, this is the season of maximum income. It is the time to prepare for the leaner period of the year by scrutinizing each item of known or probable expense most carefully, and calculating how to come out with a surplus for permanent savings. For in the budget game, everybody can play to win.

FOR SALE CHEAP — 3-burner "Detroit" stove, using gasoline, kerosene or distillate. Mrs. E. E. Merrill, 134-E Campbell avenue.

THESE THREE LADIES SAID:

—but first we must tell you how they came to say it.

The first one was giving an order over the telephone.

"Now," she said, "please send me a pound of Blaine's Coffee, and a pound of Isleton Butter, and—by the way, have you any more of those glass-top jars, like the ones I got last year?"

"We'll have some more in a few days. How did your fruit keep? Do you like those jars?"

"My fruit kept perfectly. Like them—I guess I do! I'll never buy any other kind."

The second lady was just opening a jar of fruit at the kitchen table when the boy was delivering an order. "These are the finest jars," she said, as she raised the wire lever, "look, just see how convenient this one is to open; and," she lifted off the glass cover, "see how clean and nice the top of the fruit is. I'll never buy any more jars but glass-top ones!"

The third lady is just getting stocked up with jar supplies. That is, she bought several boxes of all-glass jars last year, and several more this year; but when she ordered again the other day, we had to confess that we were out of that sort. "Oh," she pleaded, "please, please don't say that I will have to spoil my nice line of all-glass jars with some other kind. Will you have more in a few days? Then I'll wait!"

No, our customers are not going to be disappointed, we have some all-glass jars, just in. They are the nationally advertised "Acme" brand this time, fitted with "Good Luck" rubbers. Like the ones we had last year, they are square-bodied, a shape that contributes to ease of handling. With the glass top, they are the nearest thing we know to jar perfection.

SMALL CROP OF PRUNES RAISES COST OF LABOR

Prune growers of the Santa Clara valley will be obliged to pay more for labor this year than they did last season, due to a lighter crop, according to a statement issued by George Moody, superintendent of the San Jose office of the state free employment bureau. Prune pickers will receive from $6 to $8 a ton for their work this season as compared to prices ranging from $4 to $8 last year, Moody states. The prices will vary from $6 to $8 in the valley and from $6.50 to $8 in the foothills.

Moody says: "A light crop is responsible for the higher prune labor prices this year. There are only about half as many prunes as there were last year, making it harder to pick the fruit from the ground. I have sent out several parties to survey crops and they returned to tell me that they would not take contracts to pick prunes on a piecework basis because there were not enough prunes to make it profitable."

Celluloid Eyes.

By the use of celluloid eyes the blind may be made to see, is the claim made by Professor Katz of the government hospital in Petrograd. It is necessary for the success of the operation that the light-perception nerves shall be intact, as is the case in 50 per cent of cases of blindness. Professor Katz' operation consists in cutting away the withered front part of the eye, setting in the socket a celluloid cup, and allowing the light-perception nerves at the back of the eye to function through this cup. Professor Katz states that he is working on an optiphone, by means of which light may be transformed into sound when a patient's optic nerves are dead.

HOW A RIP-ROARING RADICAL WAS TAMED

By JOHN OAKWOOD

The best story of the taming of a radical I have ever read is told by A. B. Farquhar in his book "The First Million the Hardest." It throws more light on the meaning of capitalism and the futility of socialism than a library full of books on sociology, economics and politics. Here it is as Farquhar tells it:

"The best antidote for acute economic insanity is ownership of property. My favorite example is Otto Steininger. He was one of my first employees and was a rip-roaring anarchist. He insisted that all wealth came from the workers and therefore should go back to the workers. He was particularly bitter against his landlord and hardly a week went by that he did not announce that he had definitely decided that he would like to shoot the landlord the next time he came around for the rent. Finally I asked him smilingly after one of these outbursts:

Buy, Don't Shoot

"'Why don't you buy your own house instead of shooting your landlord? Then you would not have to pay any rent. If you do shoot him you may get into trouble.'

"He did not think much of the idea apparently but in a day or two he asked me how he could buy the house. I answered: 'That house can be bought for $800. You are getting good wages. I will buy that house for you, take $4 a week out of your wages, and in less than four years you will have it paid for.'

"He went off again. The next time he came back it was with his wife. He said: 'We are going to buy that house but since we have no children you can take $10 instead of $4 a week out of my pay envelope.'

"I bought the house and then Otto's chief concern was to get it paid for, which he did in a little more than a year. There was another house next door to him. In a short while after he had paid for his first house, he sidled up to me and said:

"'I can buy that house next door for a thousand dollars. Now that we have no rent to pay we are going along good. What would you think about me buying that?'

"He bought that house and joined the hated landlord class. Some years later when it was reported that a band of strikers were advancing to shut all the factories, Otto rushed into my office at the head of an excited group of men from the shop yelling:

"'Get us a lot of shotguns and we'll keep those fellows out of here! Those fools expect a man to work and save and then walk in here and take what he has got without paying for it!'

"And that," Farquhar concludes, "I think, is always the way to develop a conservative."

GROWING RECOGNITION OF ADVERTISING'S USE

Advertising first established its place as an economic factor as a sales aid, but as understanding and use of it have increased, its possibilities in other fields have developed until today we find it employed in many forms of service hitherto unthought of. Advertising has long been hampered in its use by precedent, tradition, conventions, and prejudices, which, under analysis and experience, find little to warrant their existence. Gradually the falsity of their claims is being proved.

We were told for many years that it was undignified for a bank or fiduciary institution to advertise, and this edict, born of some superstition of the past, was accepted without question until finally it was intelligently challenged and it was discovered under analysis that there was no sufficient reason for its support. The inevitable conclusion of logic is that, whatever is of genuine use to human beings, whether it be goods or services, can, with truth and dignity, be advertised and sold, and that it is just as proper to merchandise forms of service as various kinds of commodities.

In the logical development of this new understanding of the power of advertising during the last decade, we have seen many of our banking fiduciary and investment institutions actively employing the sales value of advertising in the marketing of their services. In this intelligent use of publicity they are not only increasing their own immediate business return, but they are also helping to spread a better understanding of financial service and economic fact and theory upon which solid business relations can be built.—Francis H. Sisson, Journal of the American Bankers Association.

REUNION PLANNED BY SCOTTISH RITE

To Confer Degrees from 4th to 32nd at Meeting in September.

San Jose Scottish Rite Masons will hold their annual autumn reunion September 28, 29 and 30 of this year, when the high Masonic degrees, including those from the fourth to the thirty-second, will be conferred. This decision was reached at the stated meeting of the co-ordinate bodies of the San Jose Lodge of Perfection, San Jose Chapter of Rose Croix, San Jose Council, Knights Kadosh, and San Jose Consistory, held in the Temple on North Third street August 15. The reunion will be held in the San Jose Temple.

It was stated that the degrees will be exemplified in full form, which means, according to the members, that some of the most beautiful degree work in the world will be seen. It is stated that the philosophic teachings of the Rite are most profound and searching. The San Jose degree teams have been complimented on the excellence of their portrayal of the degrees by many sojourners who have seen work done in all parts of the United States, and the world. It is said that Scottish Rite Masonry is the only form of Masonry which is practiced in all quarters of the globe.

M. B. St. John, secretary of the local bodies, will have charge of the details connected with the reunion, and will furnish information to those desiring to participate in the work.

PRUNE HARVEST ON PICKERS IN DEMAND

Santa Clara valley's prune harvest is on, according to George Moody of the state free employment bureau, where a list of over 200 are wanted for this work by growers.

The bureau is doing all possible to meet the demand as is evidenced by the records for yesterday when employers asked for 126 men and 18 women and the bureau referred 109 men and 22 women to these positions and 92 men and 12 women reported having accepted work. The new registrations were but 49 men and two women.

While prune pickers composed the greater portion of the demand, there many cannery workers asked for and the demand for dairy and general farm help continues good.
